

FULL WEEK OF ENTERTAINMENT

Rhinelander's First Chautauqua Will Open Sunday Afternoon

Everything is being put in readiness for the opening of the first Chautauqua ever held in the city, at the Keenan Park in the Sixth ward, and on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 it will be opened with a concert by Grossman's Hungarian Orchestra, an aggregation of seven highly trained musicians from the city of Cleveland, Ohio, with Karl Grossman as director.

This to be followed by Wm. H. Kieffhoefer, lecturer. The program is repeated in the evening.

For Monday afternoon and evening the Illinois Glee Club and Dr. Wm. Forbush, lecturer, will furnish the program.

Tuesday's offering is Thatcher's Symphony orchestra of twenty-one pieces, and Father H. C. Hengell, lecturer. The Thatcher orchestra has previously appeared here.

Wm. Bruce Leflingwell will also give his travel talk in the evening with motion pictures and slides.

Wednesday Dr. Edwin Lanhan will appear on the lecture platform and the Mossler Dramatic Company will furnish the musical portion of the program.

Thursday James A. Monahan will deliver one of his famous National Interest lectures, the musical portion of the program to be furnished by the Dvorak Trio.

On the closing day we will have the Tuskegee Institute Singers, eight singers from the Booker T. Washington school, and Lincoln L. Wirt, lecturer, who will give his "Conquest of the Arctic" and "In the Wake of the War."

In addition to the above and for the benefit of parents and children there will be given each day at 10:00 A. M. and 3:30 P. M. play ground instruction, story telling and games for children, this under the direction of an experienced play leader.

All the above excellent program for a full week is furnished for an investment of $2.00 if a season ticket is purchased. If daily attendance is had by single admission the total will amount to a somewhat higher figure, but everyone should provide themselves with a $2.00 ticket and not miss a single number. Help to make this, our first Chautauqua, a success, that we may be assured of having one as a yearly feature of our summer season from now on.

MIXED AFFAIRS AT ANTIGO

Our neighboring city of Antigo down the line forty-five miles is badly mixed up as a result of the two factions of the place wishing to run the place at the same time. As is known by most of our readers Antigo has the commission form of government, and as a result of certain acts on the part of the mayor, a portion of its citizens are up in arms, so to speak, and want that official removed. The main opposition, it is alleged, is his enforcement of the night and Sunday saloon closing law and his refusal to allow a carnival to show in the city.

Additional fuel was added to the flames of dissatisfaction when a few weeks ago the board of commissioners adopted a new set of rules governing the police and fire departments, and put the jobs in a form of civil service. It was decided that one patrolman was sufficient during the night, and that all would be obliged to pass a competitive examination.

However, the men who comprised the night police force when the ruling was made maintained that they were placed under civil service ruling some years ago, and that they could not be ousted from their jobs. In other words, they refuse to be discharged. And so, rather than take a chance on being beaten in the competitive examination, they refused to take it. The examination was held and a man selected for the position.

Louis Porlier, the new man, is now on the job each night, he having been hired by the city. But the other two, like the job also, and the trio work together.

Counsel has been retained by the old patrolmen, and the town is waiting to see "who is who" in Antigo police circles. None of the force is allowed to serve papers, that duty evolving for the time being upon the sheriff of the county. Now the citizens are asking some one to kindly tell them when is a policeman not a policeman? Also have they two police forces at night, or haven't they any at all?

SUMMER CARE OF HORSES

The Boston Work-Horse Relief Association has sent out the following set of rules for the benefit of the horses of the country. If you own a horse or have one to care for do not fail to read the entire set, every one of which are of great value:

1. Load lightly, and drive slowly.
2. Stop in the shade if possible.
3. Water your horse as often as possible. So long as a horse is working, water in small quantities will not hurt him. But let him drink only a few swallows if he is going to stand still. Do not fail to water him at night after he has eaten his hay.
4. When he comes in after work, sponge off the harness marks and sweat, his eyes, his nose and mouth, and the dock. Wash his feet but not his legs.
5. If the thermometer is 75 degrees or higher, wipe him all over with a damp sponge. Use vinegar water if possible. Do not turn him loose on him.
6. Saturday night, give a bran mash, lukewarm; and add a tablespoonful of saltpetre.
7. Do not use a horse-hat, unless it is a canopy-top hat. The ordinary bell-shaped hat does more harm than good.
8. A sponge on top of the head, or even a cloth, is good if kept wet. If dry it is worse than nothing.
9. If the horse is overcome by heat, get him into the shade, remove harness and bridle, wash out his mouth, sponge him all over, shower his legs and give him two ounces of aromatic spirits of ammonia, or two ounces of sweet spirits of nitre, in a pint of water; or give him a pint of coffee warm. Cool his head at once, using cold water, or, if necessary, chopped ice, wrapped in a cloth.
10. If the horse is off his feed, try him with two quarts of oats mixed with bran, and a little water; and add a little salt or sugar. Or give him oatmeal gruel or barley water to drink.
11. Watch your horse. If he stops short and quick, or if his ears droop, sweating suddenly, or if he breathes or if he stands with his legs braced sideways, he is in danger of a heat or sun stroke and needs attention at once.
12. If it is so hot that the horse sweats in the stable at night, tie him outside, with bedding under him. Unless he cools off during the night, he cannot well stand the next day's heat.

JILLSON REAPPOINTED

A. K. Jillson was this week re-appointed postmaster at Monico, which position he has filled for a number of years.

MILITIA BOYS TO CAMP DOUGLAS

Co. L. Will Leave For Week In Camp Saturday Morning

The regular annual encampment of the Wisconsin National Guard is now on, the grounds at Camp Douglas being occupied this week by the companies composing the Third regiment, which this year was the first regiment of the state militia to go into camp. Friday they will leave for home and on Saturday their places at the state encampment grounds will be taken by the Second regiment, of which Co. L of this city is a part.

Capt. Himes informs this paper that he expects to go to Camp Douglas this year with a full company of sixty-eight men and possibly three or four over that number. The Rhinelander company will leave on Saturday morning on the 5:35 Northwestern train and at Eland Junction will meet a special troop train and from there proceed by way of Wausau and Marshfield, picking up two or three additional companies and reaching Camp Douglas at three o'clock in the afternoon, where they will remain until the following Friday and return home, with the exception of twelve members who will remain to shoot on the state rifle team at the time the last regiment of the state is in camp.

Company L has made an excellent showing the past year and we expect to hear good things of them in camp.

ADVICE GIVEN IN CASES OF RABIES

In a bulletin on rabies Dr. W. D. Stovall, chief of the state hygienic with the University of Wisconsin, says it is estimated that only about 16 per cent. of those bitten by proved rabid dogs develop rabies, either because the teeth may be cleansed in passing through the clothing or because of care of the wound or the resistant powers of the victim. Dr. Stovall says that to prevent rabies after animal bites the following precautions should be taken:

"Call a physician, if possible, and have him immediately and completely cauterize the wound with fuming nitric acid. If the wound is a deep one, it should be laid open with a clean knife, so that the acid will reach every surface. If a physician can not be secured, do this yourself.

"Keep the animal alive if possible. Put it in a clean room or fasten it with chain or wires, giving it food and water. A rabid animal generally dies within six days. If the animal is running at large, shoot it through the body, not the head. When the animal is dead, in either case, sever the head, pack it in ice in a wooden pail, and ship to the State Laboratory of Hygiene, Madison. Mark it carefully. With it send a letter giving a history of the case, including the actions of the animal, number of persons, or animals bitten, and whether the animal was killed or allowed to die.

"At the laboratory, a small part of the brain is injected into a well animal, which will produce the disease in a short time if the original animal was infected. A bacteriological examination is also made.

"The incubation period in man averages about forty days. The length of time it takes to establish an immunity of the Pasteur treatment is fifteen days. If the animal is proved to have had rabies, the patient should be sent to Madison, where the Pasteur treatment may be administered. The only way to stamp out rabies is to muzzle dogs and prevent them running at large. Rabies has been wiped out in England and almost wiped out in Germany by this method."

NEW DIRECTORY

The Rhinelander Telephone Company will distribute in a few days to its patrons the July issue of their list of subscribers, now numbering nearly 900, an increase of nearly fifty since the issue of January last, which shows a very healthy condition of affairs for the company.

Since early spring the company has been rebuilding its line to Roosevelt and extending a line from this city to Starks for the use of the Starks Co. and another to Gagen for the Minneapolis Lumber and Cedar Co., located there. Both of these firms have considerable outside business and heretofore were unable to get access to the Wisconsin Telephone Company's long distance lines.

BADGER FARMERS NAMING FARMS

Wisconsin farms are being christened this summer at a more rapid rate than at any time in the state's history. This is due to the passage of the farm registration act, now listed in chapter 25, laws of 1915, providing for the registration of farms with the register of deeds upon payment of a fee of 25 cents.

That this bit of settlement in legislation is meeting with approval is shown by reports from many localities. Farms are being named for locality, sentiment, business, special industry, and to express content and happiness.

In naming the home farm originality is of the first importance, and words that go well together without a harsh or awkward sound should be selected. Plenty of time and careful thought must be used and all members of the family may well be consulted before deciding upon a title. The haste with which many a new calf or colt is provided with a name should not be applied to naming the farm. Herewith is given a list of a few original farm names. Other combinations along this line will suggest themselves to fit particular cases.

Airy Knoll, Arborland, Bonnydell, Betteryet, Butter Bounty, Breezyview, The Crossways, Clovermint, Crest, Dairy Downs, Dairy Dell, Clover Cluster, Creamland, Cedar Fairy Fold, Grainscape, Green Pastures, Gloriland, Heart's Desire, Health Haven, Lane's End, Lindenlawn, Luckylane, Meadowmere, Runningwater, Reap Reward, Sunnyscape, Sunnysacres, Snugglenock, Verdant Vale, Watersnear and Wonderview.

DAIRY INTERESTS BIG INDUSTRY

Wisconsin's dairy products now bring over one hundred million dollars a year; more than all the gold mined in the United States and Alaska combined. The state produces half of all the cheese made in the United States. For several years Wisconsin has been running neck and neck with the great state of New York in the number of milk cows, but last year, according to government records, Wisconsin added 30,000 milk cows to its total, while New York remained stationary, so that with 1,550,000 milk cows within its borders, Wisconsin now far surpasses New York or any other state and there is room for a million more on the vacant grass lands of northern Wisconsin.

Bearing on the reason for Wisconsin's great gain in the dairy industry, the Wisconsin Advancement association learns that there have been added nearly thirty new creameries in the upper counties during the last year. Three of the largest creameries in the state are in the upper counties and many of the others are very large. The aggregate output of the three largest ones will approximate $1,000,000 this year.

The farmers of Wisconsin will be affected by the war as little as those of any portion of the United States. There will be a demand for butter and cheese and beef and bacon-war or no war. Again the Wisconsin farmer is at the front in good fortune.

WILL BEAUTIFY DEPOT GROUNDS

The Soo company have commenced work of laying out a park at the west end of their passenger station in this city. Later a landscape gardener will visit Rhinelander, and lay out the grounds and hardy shrubs and trees will be planted. We understand that the ground directly in front of the station will also be improved in a similar manner.

FOURTH OF JULY PARADE PICTURES

Several pictures from our recent Fourth of July celebration are on display this week in the window of the Hanson studio. Mr. Hanson "caught" a number of the best features of the parade, and also some scenes at the fair grounds later in the day, some showing Gov. Philipp delivering his political address to the assembled crowd.

Dr. Wendell Smith has moved into the Hawkins residence on Clark street.

LOSES LIFE BY LIVE WIRE

Chauncey Vaughan, Lineman For The Lighting Company Is Killed Friday

While at work Friday afternoon making some repairs on the lines of the Rhinelander Lighting company near the junction of Alban and Thayer streets, Chauncey Vaughan came in contact with some of the live wires and met instant death. The accident happened at a few minutes past five o'clock and the body of the unfortunate man hung suspended for twenty minutes or half an hour before it could be taken down. At the time of his death Vaughan was wearing his safety belt and this prevented his body from falling to the ground after he was killed. His arm and hand that came in contact with the electric current was badly burned.

The body was taken to Nick's undertaking rooms and prepared for burial, being removed Saturday afternoon to his home on the west side of the river in the paper mill district, where a wife and three children were on Friday afternoon awaiting the return of husband and father for supper just at the time when the terrible news of his death was broken to them.

Deceased was about thirty-five years of age and had been employed by the Lighting Company for a number of years. He was a member of the Eagles' lodge in this city and the funeral, held Monday afternoon was in charge of that order. Rev. C. H. Dinsmore of the Baptist church being the officiating clergyman.

CHANCE HERE FOR COUNTY EXHIBIT

B. G. Packer, State Commissioner of Immigration at Madison wishes to announce that his department is cooperating with the U. S. Department of Immigration in Chicago. He has been asked to install and maintain an exhibit of Wisconsin's farm crops in the building occupied by the Federal Department at 815 So. Wabash Avenue. He would like the cooperation of all counties in grasses to be exhibited in this manner. It seems that it would be well for any farmer having an especially good crop of some kind to arrange neat samples from it and send them to Chicago for an Oneida County exhibit. Our county needs new settlers and this way would be an easy way of advertising. If several farmers will consider this proposition, there is no reason why we cannot have an exhibit that will attract any land seeker's attention.

DEATH COMES TO FORMER RESIDENT

News of the death of Ella Beers Jamieson, wife of Wm. Jamieson at her home in St. Paul early Tuesday morning was received here Tuesday forenoon and was the cause of profound sorrow among the many friends of the deceased in this city, where for more than twenty years she had made her home, moving to St. Paul with her husband a little over a year ago.

Mrs. Jamieson was fifty-eight years of age and was a noble type of womanhood, one who made friends with all with whom she came in contact and held them. Although ill for many months and realizing that death must soon come, she bore her sufferings uncomplainingly and was ever thoughtful for the comfort of others near and dear to her.

Funeral services were held from the home Wednesday with burial in St. Paul.

BOARD OF EDUCATION MEET

A meeting of the Board of Education was held at the city hall Monday evening. A number of bills were allowed. Bids for the installation of a new toilet system at the Central school building were opened and the matter referred to the proper committee to act as they saw fit. Rev. Snaresmo of the Norwegian Lutheran church was granted the use of one room in either the First ward or the Central school building during the month of August. Gus Swedberg appeared before the board and asked permission for the use of the High school auditorium during the meeting of the Luther League here and the matter was referred to committee. The full official report of the board's doings will be given next week.

EXTENSION OF WATER MAINS

Work on the extension of the N. Stevens street water main, Edgar street to the intersection of Stevens and Frederick street is nearly completed. This extension forms a loop very badly needed in order to give a better circulation of the water in the mains in that section of the city lying at the extreme north end of Stevens street, and it will also serve a number of property owners along the route. The work of "cutting in" the extension to the Frederick street main is a small job and in doing so a good share of the down town district will be shut off from a water supply for several hours, as it will be necessary to close six gates in order to drain this main feed line and allow a "T" connection to be made. The work is in charge of the Oneida Plumbing and Heating Co.

Another extension of water mains is also being made on south Oneida Ave. by the Lowell Chaffee Co. plumbing firm. 2000 feet of pipe being required in its construction, this to form a loop with a main already laid near the creamery. These two extensions will probably be all that will be made to the water system this year, although petitions for others have been made.

SPENDS NIGHT IN AUTOMOBILE

Rhinelander Party Runs Into Swamp and Remain Until Morning

Saturday afternoon an auto party made up of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hanchett, H. E. Larson and wife and "Bud" Lewis and Miss Grace McLaughlin visited Sugar Camp in the Lewis car and took supper and started homeward at ten o'clock. When about six miles out the car in making a turn in the road skidded to one side and ran into a swamp where it settled down in the soft earth up to the hubs. It was nearly eleven o'clock and a storm was approaching, so the male members of the party got to work in an endeavor to raise the car and get back to solid ground. But their work was of no avail and it was abandoned after two hours, when one of the worst electric storms of the season was upon them. Nothing could be done but remain in the car until morning and fight mosquitoes until the storm subsided and day light came.

At five o'clock a farmer two miles distant was called upon and with a team and tackle-block the car was dragged back to the road and the party reached the city in time for church service Sunday morning. The car was not damaged.

THREE YEARS IN WAUPUN PRISON

Jos. Hudrick, who on the night of July 2nd got on a surplus load of Woodruff boxes and proceeded to carry up a companion, Anton Kopenak by name, landing in jail here two days later, decided to go before Judge Steele and enter a plea of guilty and take his punishment. He was given a sentence of three years in Waupun prison and was taken there to begin serving time this morning by Sheriff Crofoot and John O'Brien.

The prisoner is a single man and for several years was employed with the section crew on the railroad at Woodruff. The man whom he attacked with a knife is in a precarious condition and for a time it was thought he could not live but he is thought to be out of danger now.

WISCONSIN RIVER HIGH

The heavy rains of the past two weeks in this section have filled the reservoirs at the headwaters of the Wisconsin river to such an extent that the dam at Otter Rapids just below Eagle River had to be opened. This accounts for the high stage of the river here at this time. Only once before this year has the water reached the point where it now is. The rains north of us on the Eagle waters the past two weeks have been much greater than in this immediate locality.

LAW MAKERS NOT FRIENDLY

A dispatch from Madison states that of the nineteen bills recommended by the state vice commission, all but three have been killed.

A bill broadening the law on pandering, and a bill providing for a closer check on employment agencies, have been enacted into a law, and a third measure recommended is pending.

The commission spent nearly $10,000 in its investigation of conditions in Wisconsin. Friends of the anti-vice movement maintain the work of the committee resulted in benefits in the way of public awakening even if the legislature was a little rough with its recommendations.

NEW STREET SIGNS PLACED

The new white and blue enamel street signs, ordered by the city some time ago, have arrived and are being placed by Gus Swedberg this week. They will be placed on the electric light or telephone poles at the corners of the main travel cross streets.

The enamel signs are the most durable sign made and will last indefinitely if the small boy does not get busy with throwing rocks at them. A careful watch should be kept for cases of this kind and arrests should follow promptly. Already two or three of the signs have been ruined in this manner.

A PRIZE FISH

J. J. Reardon was one of the fortunate fishermen on Sunday, spending the day on the Wisconsin river and returning in the evening "with the goods" to show his friends his ability as a fisherman. His prize fish was a muskallunge tipping the scales at twenty-five pounds.

GOV. PHILIPP ON EFFICIENCY

In many of his public addresses around the state, Governor Philipp lays much stress on his desire for increased efficiency in the department. His appointments so far have been far from consistent with his spoken and written pledges, and in no case more inconsistent than in his appointment of an insurance commissioner. Mr. Cleary the appointee is an active young man, personally clean and able and of a pleasing personality, but as an insurance commissioner is not to be classed with H. L. Ekern. In the history of the state no man has so ably and conscientiously filled this post as Commissioner Ekern. He has been recognized all over the country as one of the keenest and most able insurance superintendents, has devoted himself ardently to the protection of the policy holders of this state and it is impossible to fill his place. If Governor Philipp had really been interested in efficiency he would have reappointed Commissioner Ekern but he is in reality not concerned so much with efficiency as in the advancement of the corporate interests and the destruction of all progressive principles. The people however are becoming enlightened as to his methods. His supporters point to his election as a demand that the people want this or that. As a matter of fact Mr. Philipp's election is due to an overabundance of progressive candidates and he was nominated and elected by a minority of the voters of the state. So that the insistent demands continually referred to by the esteemed Milwaukee Sentinel, upon investigation, die away to a mere whisper.

Governor Philipp's designs upon the tax commission, upon the University and normal schools were not so much for the purpose of economy as for the purpose of enabling him to fill the places with men of his choosing. It will be well for the voters to watch these matters closely.

THE STREET OILING MACHINE

The following is the resolution introduced by Ald. McDermott about which the New North commented last week:

Resolved, by the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Rhinelander, That of the $5,500.00 refunded to the city treasury by the City Treasurer on July 2, 1915, $1000.00 of said amount be diverted to the street fund, $600.00 of said sum to be used in the purchase of a latest model patent steel power oil distributor, and the balance of said amount, to-wit: the sum of $4500.00 be diverted to the general fund.

Introduced by Mike McDermott, Alderman.

It was not our intention to give any misinterpretation of this resolution, but as it was read, it seemed to appear as we interpreted it.

However, we understand that the resolution is illegal. The money returned to the treasury cannot be diverted from its original purpose. Perhaps that cannot be carried out fully, but every effort should be put forth to comply so far as possible with the law and reduce our bonded indebtedness.

In the first place we believe that an oiling machine should not be purchased at a cost of $600.00 until we know that we are ready for it.

In the second place we fail to see that our streets are in shape for oiling. They need repairing before any top dressing is given them.

Again, we feel that the amount stated in the resolution for the machine and the oiling is but a drop in the bucket toward the expense of oiling the macadam streets of Rhinelander.

In the third place, there has been no appropriation made for this purpose. Consequently we have no legal right to use this money for this purpose.

In the fourth place, we would advise the people to investigate the condition of the city treasury before any step of this kind is taken.

This criticism must in no sense be understood to be a personal one. It is a question of the advisability of the use of the city funds. We feel it our duty to take up these questions as they appear to us irrespective of personality.

BANQUET FOR FATHER KEENAN

The Catholic ladies gave a banquet to the young men of St. Mary's congregation at the parochial school hall last night in honor of Father Keenan, who left this morning for Chicago where he will remain as a teacher for the coming two years. A five course dinner was served. The tables were arranged in the form of a cross and the hall was beautifully decorated with potted plants, cut flowers and a profusion of ferns. There was a large number present and the evening was passed in a very enjoyable manner. Harp and violin music was furnished during the evening.

EAGLES' BUILDING BIDS

Several bids submitted for the erection of the Eagles' building have been opened. The lowest was about $21,000. The building may not be built until next year.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE MARRY

At St. Mary's Catholic church Wednesday morning at nine o'clock Rev. Fr. Wuchter pronounced the words uniting in bonds matrimonial two of our popular and well known young people, Miss Theresa Malz and Stephen J. Gwidt, the ceremony being witnessed by a large gathering of the relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

The couple were attended by Miss Mary Malz and Frank Gwidt and Miss Mary Gwidt and Louis Ziebel. The bride looked charming in a gown of white crepe de chine, carrying a shower bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaids were dressed in gowns of pink crepe de chine and carried bouquets of pink carnations. During the offertory Mrs. Flalley sang "Oh Promise Me".

Following the ceremony at the church the wedding party went to the Malz home on Thayer street, where amid a profusion of floral decorations in pink and white the wedding breakfast was served. The newly wed couple were the recipients of many gifts, both beautiful and costly.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Malz, old and respected residents of Rhinelander. She has spent most of her life in this city and is a young woman whose charming personality has won her many friends.

For nearly five years ending June 12, Miss Malz was stenographer and secretary to the County Superintendent, which position she filled with great popularity among the teachers of the county.

The groom is also well and favorably known here. For several years he was employed at the Sam Anderson cigar factory here, but at present he is in the service of the state, acting in the capacity of deputy game warden with headquarters at Park Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Gwidt are still in the city receiving congratulations from their many friends but will leave in a few days on a wedding trip and later go to housekeeping at Park Falls. May the sunshine of happiness ever be upon them.

WOMAN LANDS LARGE FISH

While fishing in the second lake of the chain at Roosevelt yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Axel Lindergren caught a muskallonge which tipped the scales at twenty-six pounds. The monster put up a terrific struggle to get free from the hooks but was finally landed by the plucky woman, who has since been receiving much praise from her friends on her ability as an angler.

Mrs. Joyce Batson of Marshfield, is visiting with her sister, Mrs. A.R. Meen in this city.

Church Semi-Oriental.

The Russian church, which terms itself orthodox—pravoslavny—differs considerably from all the other Christian temples by its semi-oriental style that is half Tartar, half Byzantine, yet possesses its distinctly Slavonic element. With its gilded cupolas, bright-colored roofs and ornaments, white glaring walls, it has more of a mythologic and legendary character than any stately gothic or romantic cathedrals.

Worth Knowing.

One of the quickest known ways of dispelling a headache is to give some of the muscles—those of the legs, for instance—a little hard, sharp work to do. The reason is obvious. Muscular exertion flushes the parts engaged in it, and so depletes the brain. When your head aches take a stiff walk or a short bicycle ride.

Rich Pearl Oyster Banks.

The richest pearl oyster banks are situated around the northern and eastern coast of the Bahrein Islands. Units of measurement in the sale are the rice bag and the coffee bag, which hold on the average 140 and 175 pounds, respectively, of cleaned shells.

Use for Old Newspapers.

Old newspapers form the basis of most of the boxes in which goods are kept in the furnishings stores. When ground into pulp and treated with certain chemicals they form ideal material for the pasteboard used in the cheapest as well as the more expensive grades of boxes.

Deadly Simple Diseases.

Measles and scarlet fever are children's ailments among most white people, but deadly plagues to all ages among Polynesians and Indians. The latter, however, are developing something like immunity to these infections; measles no longer can wipe out half a tribe as it used to do.

BAD HABITS OF COLTS

Trick Once Learned Becomes Harder to Break Each Day.

Example Cited of City Man Who Attempted to Approach Head of Young Animal of Extremely Nervous Disposition.

(By J. M. BELL.)

The secret of breaking a colt properly is to keep him from learning bad habits, not curing him of them after they have been acquired, although the latter must be done if he has acquired them, providing you want a well-broken horse.

A bad trick once learned soon becomes a set habit, becoming harder to cure each day if not stopped in the earliest stages.

Let me cite an example: A neighbor of mine has a very fine colt that he put in the hands of a trainer to break to light harness, double and single, and also the saddle.

The trainer knew his business and in a month's time the colt was fairly steady in harness and under the saddle, but, being of a nervous disposition and rather suspicious of human beings, had to be handled very carefully.

He was especially nervous when anyone approached his head, whether he was tied in his stall or to a hitching post, and inclined to run back against the halter or bridle if approached too hurriedly.

The trainer—a real horseman—who noticed all peculiarities of the many different horses he handled from time to time, was extremely careful not to excite this particular colt and certainly not when he was tied.

Consequently, the colt, although showing signs of nervousness at times, never attempted to really pull back and break away.

The trainer left, after his work was done, and soon afterward a city cousin, a good fellow, but no horseman, paid my neighbor a visit and he was given the colt to ride.

Now, although the city man was no horseman in the strict acceptance of the word, yet he was devoted to horseback riding and in his riding legs cut quite a respectable figure.

He called on the writer one afternoon, tying his mount, the above-mentioned colt, to a tree.

Later, as he was about to leave, he walked straight to the colt's head; the latter edged away, backing the full length of the reins; the rider then extended a gloved hand straight in the colt's face with the idea of patting him on the nose, but the now trembling young animal mistook the abrupt motion, and, swinging back, broke the bridle at the headstall and galloped off.

The city man was somewhat surprised when I suggested that he should have quietly untied the colt and then patted him, holding on to the reins the while.

He enticed the colt into my stable, fixed the bridle, and my friend mounted and rode off.

Since then this horse has broken loose several times, and it will require something stronger than an ordinary halter and bridle to prove to him that he must "stand hitched," as the saying is.

A heavy rope halter tied around his neck and then passed through a ring of the bit so as to draw equally on the neck and head will probably stop the bad habit.

MORE LIVE STOCK IS NEEDED

Unless More Attention Is Given to Farm Animals Fertility of Soil Will Be Depleted.

(By WALTER B. LEUTZ.)

Unless American farmers grow more live stock in the future the fertility of the soil will be wasted at such a rate that farming will prove generally unprofitable. Such is the conclusion which has been reached by students of the problem, as well as practical farmers in every community of the United States.

The farm animal is absolutely necessary. There are many reasons for this. Live stock enables much of the waste about the farm to be converted into meat, milk and work. Much of the crops on the farm can be marketed in smaller packages, when converted into butter, milk and meat. The boys and girls on the farm are far more liable to become interested in farming if an interest in live stock can be awakened.

Poultry Diseases.

The most common causes of poultry diseases are constitutional weaknesses due to wrong breeding.

TAKE TIME WITH ASPARAGUS

Prepared Hastily or Carelessly a Great Part of Its Finer Flavor Will Be Lost.

The very best method of boiling asparagus is first to wash, scrape and tie into a bundle, and then plunge the stalks into a vessel of boiling water, allowing the tips to come above the water. The steam will be sufficient to cook these tender parts. Serve on toast or with melted butter. In Europe a little butter is placed on the edge of the plate and the hot head of asparagus dipped into it before eating, but in this country a white sauce usually accompanies this dish.

An economical way, and when there are children a more convenient way also, is to cut the tender parts into short lengths and cook in the least quantity of salted water possible. It should be done in about 20 minutes, when it is taken from the liquor and the latter thickened with a little flour, butter and cream. The asparagus is laid upon toasted bread and the sauce poured over. In this way one gets the full benefit of every bit of the vegetable while the tougher portions can be made into a nice asparagus soup.

To make this, cook the stalks in salted water until tender and press through a sieve. Put two cupfuls of milk over the fire or milk and a white stock mixed. When it boils, stir in two tablespoonfuls each of flour and butter thoroughly rubbed together, by pouring the scalding milk over gradually. Put over the fire, and if found too thick when brought to a boil thin with hot milk. Add the asparagus pulp. Season with salt and pepper, then strain into the soup tureen.

Asparagus omelet makes a delicious dish for either luncheon or breakfast, and is a good way of using up cold asparagus that is insufficient for making into a salad.

Make a plain omelet with three eggs, three tablespoonfuls of hot water and salt and pepper to taste. Add the water and the seasoning to the yolks and beat in the whites at the last. Pour into a hot buttered frying pan and cook slowly. To test whether an omelet is cooked sufficiently press with the finger. If it comes away clean the omelet is ready to serve. Turn upon a hot platter and have ready the asparagus heated in a little cream or thickened milk. Fold over and serve garnished with parsley.

Strawberry Custard.

Now that strawberries are in their season one likes to find new ways of serving, and coming across this recipe, it sounded "quite good," so I am going to send it in, writes a correspondent. One that does not care for so large a recipe can halve it. Select the finest, freshest berries; hull, wash and drain carefully. Turn them into a deep glass dish, sprinkle each layer with powdered sugar, and just before serving pour over a cold boiled custard made with the yolks of six eggs, one quart of milk, one cupful of sugar, a pinch of salt and one teaspoonful of lemon extract. Whip the whites to a very stiff froth, add three tablespoonfuls of sugar and drop in large spoonfuls in a shallow pan of boiling water. When cooked lift them out carefully.

Cucumbers in Brown Gravy.

Prepare half a dozen medium-sized cucumbers and cut them into thick slices, place them in ice water, let stand half an hour, drain, simmer in unseasoned beef stock until tender, then skim out the cucumbers and lay them in a hot vegetable dish. Cook one tablespoonful of browned flour in one tablespoonful of butter, add the stock, stir until thick and smooth, season with one teaspoonful of kitchen bouquet, one-third teaspoonful of onion juice and pepper and salt to taste. Pour the sauce over the cucumbers before serving.

Strawberry and Rhubarb Pie.

Have you ever tried strawberries in rhubarb pie? I substituted strawberries for part of the rhubarb in a pie yesterday, and the result quickly disappeared. The following is the recipe: One cupful finely cut rhubarb, one cupful strawberries, one cupful sugar, one egg, two tablespoonfuls flour, butter. Mix rhubarb, strawberries, sugar and beaten egg and let it stand half an hour. Add butter and flour rubbed together. Bake with two crusts.—Boston Globe.

Raisin-Apple Tapioca.

One cupful pearl tapioca, two cupfuls apples, one cupful raisins, two cupfuls brown sugar, one-half teaspoonful butter, two cupfuls water; soak tapioca in one-half cupful of cold water an hour; cut apples in quarters, lay in baking dish with sugar, tapioca and water mixed and turned over them the last thing after other ingredients have been added to them. Bake an hour in hot oven. Serve without cream. Makes rich pudding.

Baked Tomatoes.

Cover the bottom of an earthen dish with ripe tomatoes sliced; then a layer of bread crumbs, seasoned with pepper, salt and butter, then another layer of tomatoes, and so continue till the dish is filled, letting the topmost layer be of bread crumbs. Bake about one-half hour.

To Make Fig Filling.

This filling can be used in almost any layer cake. Take a pound of figs, chop fine and put into a stewpan on the stove; pour over them a tea-cupful of water and add a half cupful of sugar. Cook all together until soft and smooth. When cold spread between layers of cake.

AROUND THE CIRCLE

After laying off for a few days from his county road work, Superintendent Gross is back and commenced work this week Wednesday with a full crew and will have it completed in a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gilley of Defer, Wis., spent the glorious Fourth with his brother at Pine Grove farm in the town of Pelican.

Again the musical click of the moving machine is heard and the Crescent "Pumpkin rollers" have commenced putting up their bumper crop of hay which has turned out to be much better than expected a few weeks ago. W. P. Jewell, is putting up better than two tons per acre on the Lewis farm and of a very fine quality.

In the storm of last Saturday the lightning struck in one of the pine groves upon the farm of Wm. Gilley, which it derives its name from, but not doing much damage.

Mrs. B. L. Ames of Minnesota is visiting friends and relatives on the Flats for a few weeks.

Julius Lassig has commenced the harvest of his strawberry crop for this season and has quite a number of pickers at work this week. The crop is not near what it should be and the berries are somewhat smaller than previous seasons.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Blaisdell and grandson Lloyd, of the city and Mrs. F. Turner and daughter Dorothy of Sheboygan, Wis., spent Tuesday at Pine Grove Farm.

The new concrete culvert at Crescent creek was completed this week and the approaches filled and covered so that travel over it is entirely safe now.

Mrs. Mary Gilley has prolonged her stay at Pine Grove farm for another week.

B. N. Moran has been decorating some of his farm buildings with a

PLUMBERS PREVENT BLAZE

When workmen from the Oneida Plumbing and Heating Co. visited the C. A. Wixson residence on Dahl street yesterday to make some plumbing repairs they found the house filled with smoke. A hasty search for the cause followed and it was found in the kitchen where an electric iron had been left standing with the current on on the ironing board, which had already been partly burned away. The family is away and the plumbers' visit just at that time prevented a serious loss.

TELEPHONE CO. BUYS LOT

The Rhinelander Telephone company has purchased of P. O. Means the vacant lot between the Congregational church and Armory on Stevens street, having a frontage of fifty feet. On this property a modern, office building for the use of the company will be erected as soon as the lease of the company in its present location expires.

JACK PINE FOR REFORESTING

That jack pine is admirably suited for reforesting many of the dry, sandy regions of the North Central States is the conclusion of a new publication of the department Bulletin No. 212, "Observations on the Pathology of the Jack Pine." This tree, it is said, suffers only occasionally from winter injury, stands drought well, and is comparatively free from a number of diseases which are commonly found on other coniferous trees. The pine is, however, sensitive to heat.

FORGOT VALUABLES

Saturday morning at the Pattinson Steam Laundry, a purse, bank book, certificate of deposit for $150 and several papers of value were found in laundry work sent in by one of the local hotels. Fortunately the discovery was made before the articles were given a bath. They had been placed in the pillow by a traveling man who had forgotten them on getting up to catch an early morning train but were missed soon after he left town. A long distance telephone call later straightened out matters.

CONTRAST PROFITS OF MILLS

John Strange, of Menasha, Wis., is of the conviction that water power is not so valuable, so far as the papermaking industry is concerned. Mr. Strange believes, in effect, that papermaking of Wisconsin would be better off now, if it had never bothered with waterpower at all but had used steam power exclusively from the first. In support of this argument he compares the profits of the Michigan mills that are run by steam with those of Wisconsin that are run by water and steam, saying that since the beginning the Michigan mills have paid three dollars profit to every dollar of profit paid by Wisconsin mills.

This is in accord with the conclusion that a good many men have come to, that where steady operation of an industry at a certain power load is essential, it does not pay to bother with so fluctuating a source of energy as waterpower, for an auxiliary steam plant capable of caring for the entire load will be required anyway, and in the long run it will be cheaper to put in the steam plant and use that exclusively. —The Paper Trade.

INJUSTICE TO CHILDREN

One of the tragic injustices of which a great many parents are guilty even in this age, is bending of children to their will through the power of fear. There is a large class of parents who are positively brutal with their little ones. A child quickly comes to understand reason, if reason is applied. He is keenly receptive to truths, and to right ways of doing things. He deserves to have mysteries explained to him. He is entitled to legitimate reasons when he is told that he must not do certain things. It is unfair to insist that he must not commit some act solely "because papa tells you not to." The child should be taught not to be afraid. —Mother's Magazine.

PAINTING RAILROAD PROPERTY

The painting crew of the Northwestern railway company have been working here for the past two weeks applying paint to property of the company. The freight house, round house, water tank, switch targets, etc., have all received attention. Nothing has been missed. Now if the company would improve the grounds about the passenger station by planting some hardy shrubbery and laying out a few flower beds the appearance of that section of the city would be greatly improved.

COUNTY BUYS FLAG

The large flag displayed at the court house grounds on July 4th and 5th is a recent purchase of Oneida county. It is 15x30 ft. of best wool bunting and with care will last many years. When not used on special days for display outside it will hang suspended from the dome in the interior of the court house over the stairway leading to the second floor.

DRUGGISTS NOT AFFECTED

W. F. Kaiser, secretary of the Milwaukee Pharmaceutical association, has expressed the opinion that the elimination of whiskey and brandy as medicine in the national pharmacopoeia, will not stop the sale of these liquors in drug stores in Wisconsin. Druggists in Wisconsin are licensed by the state to sell liquor for medicinal, scientific and mechanical purposes.

Oil Your Rubbers.

Before wearing your rubbers rub them well with vaseline, lard or sweet oil, letting it remain on for a day or two. The greater part will be absorbed by the rubber and the grease will prevent the rubber from breaking. The superfluous oil can be removed with a soft cloth.

Danger in Overworking Eyes.

Oculists state that comparatively few persons have absolutely normal eyesight; those who have do not take care always to read or work under proper conditions of light, and the result is that most adults and many children so overwork the muscles about the eyes as to form wrinkles and loose, falling flesh.

Triumph for Great Composer.

When Handel's "Messiah" was first performed in London, the audience was exceedingly struck and affected by the music in general; but when the chorus struck up, "For the Lord God omnipotent reigneth," they were so transported that they all, including the king, who was present, started up and remained standing till the chorus ended; and hence it became the fashion in England for the audience to stand while that part of the composition is performed.

He Was Honest.

A small colored boy stole some brass fittings from a building and was taken before the judge, who severely reprimanded him and bade him take back the stolen property. Turning to the officer the judge requested him to see that this was done, when the youngster broke out: "Dat's all right, fedge. I've gwine to take 'em back, and yo' needn't send no cop wit me, for Ise hones, I is." —Cincinnati Enquirer.

Really Hard Thing to Do.

It is no great matter to associate with the good and gentle, for this is naturally pleasing to all, and even one willingly enjoyeth peace and loveth those best that agree with him. But to be able to live peaceably with hard and perverse persons, or with the disorderly, or with such as are contrary to us, is a great grace and a most commendable and manly thing. —Thomas a Kempis.

Three Things to Remember.

It is a maxim universally agreed upon in agriculture, that nothing must be done too late; and again, that everything must be done at its proper season; while there is a third precept which reminds us that opportunities lost can never be regained. —Pliny the Elder.

His Lasting Occupation.

"What is your occupation?" asked the judge of a witness. "Same ole thing, fedge—prayin' for rain or shine, as they're needed; an' predictin' the end o' the world whenever the signs pint that-away." —Atlanta Constitution.

RHINELANDER WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION

Press Committee: Mrs. Gonnels, Mrs. Howe, Mrs. E. K. Rick, Mrs. Emma Wilde, Mrs. C. P. Crosby, (By Winfield S. Hall, Ph. D., M. D.) (Prof. Northwestern University.)

We are living in an age of efficiency. Successful men in all generations have been the efficient men. The modern tendency to analyze causes and effects has brought into special prominence the importance of physical efficiency as a direct cause for success. We train our schoolboys for participation in various games and sports. They are trained for efficiency. Young men and women in the business and industrial world are trained for efficiency.

Everything which promotes efficiency is emphasized as an element in success. Everything which decreases efficiency is stigmatized as a cause of defeat. Let us inquire briefly into the relation of the saloon to physical efficiency.

The saloon makes a business of creating, fostering and satisfying a desire for alcoholic beverages. Every other activity of the saloon is secondary to and subsidiary to the one above mentioned. If alcohol beverages decrease physical efficiency, then the saloon must be indicted as the ultimate cause of such decreased physical efficiency.

Our knowledge of the influence of alcohol has greatly increased during the last two decades. It used to be thought that alcohol was a stimulant, that it kept the body warm in cold weather, that it increased muscular activity and the power of muscular work, and that it increased the brain activity and clearness of thought.

Modern science has shown that alcohol in any quantity is a narcotic and not a stimulant. It appears to be a stimulant on superficial observation because its narcotic action is associated with decreased inhibition and decreased control. Under the influence of small amounts of alcohol there is increased activity with decreased control. Alcohol therefore is a narcotic and not a stimulant.

Recent studies have shown that while the surface of the skin is flushed with warm blood, giving the sensation of warmth, the temperature of the body really falls, because of the cooling of the blood on the surface. The sensation of cosy warmth after a hot toddy may be really a dangerous thing.

Analysis of actual performance of muscular feats either of strength, agility or skill has demonstrated that even small amounts of alcohol decrease the strength, lessen the agility and mar the skill. Therefore alcohol markedly interferes with muscular efficiency.

Investigations in University Laboratories of Europe and America have shown that, while brain activity is increased with small doses of alcohol, the judgment is less sound, the reasoning less accurate, the perception less clear, the thinking less logical, the will power weakened. Thus activity was gained at the expense of control and of efficiency.

Recent researches therefore have demonstrated that alcohol profoundly influences physical efficiency—decreasing strength, agility and skill of muscular action, interfering with judgment, reason, will power and logical thinking. Alcohol is the great destroyer of physical efficiency.

The saloon, being the purveyor of alcoholic beverages, creating, fostering and satisfying desire for these beverages, therefore is to be held responsible. The saloon is the root of the evil.

TODAY IS YOUR DAY

While walking in the streets one is often greeted with the cheerful remark, "It's a nice day!" Good days and bad days exist only in the mind. The weather has nothing to do with it. Each day is what we make it.

Suppose you get the word that your salary has been doubled or that a forgotten uncle has left you $1,000,000. What do you care about the weather then? Or suppose the person you love is dying. Unexpectedly a turn for the better comes. The doctor says your dear one will live. What if it is hotter than tophet? It is a good day, a great day, a happy day. It is what we think and feel about it that makes each day what it is.

Put down in the notebook of your soul the poet Rumer's thought, "Each day is life." When you get up in the morning throw back your shoulders, take a deep breath and meet the new day like a man. Say to yourself, "Another day, another life!" For all we know it may be the only day we shall ever have. Let us make it the best day we can. Let us strive to make it a day worth while, to move a step forward in our work, to do all the good we can get all the happiness we can today.

Right now is the only time you can control. Yesterday is a record. Tomorrow is a secret. Today is yours and mine.—Philadelphia Press.

TRIPOLI

July 7, 1915.
The Fourth of July was spread over a period of three days.

A great many of the families had a picnic dinner and spent the afternoon Saturday at Stolle's Park.

A number of our people escorted the ball team who pulled off a very close game last Sunday at Westboro and Monday at Kennan. The game stood 4 to 5 in favor of Kennan and 3 to 0 in favor of Kennan at Kennan. All reported a good time.

The section crew with some of their foreign friends got into a free for all mix up with the result that one of them will be laid up for two or three weeks under the doctor's care. It comes pretty handy to have a doctor at hand. The doctor is kept busy these days.

The box mill has been shut down several days undergoing extensive repairs.

The Hotel Park is being graded and seeded in.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meyer and son Vaughan, who now live at Albstorf were visiting among their many friends at Tripoli the past week.

Mrs. Matt Koch is under the doctor's care but hopes to be about soon again.

Wm. Umlauf is again at work after being laid up for the past couple of weeks with a badly sprained ankle.

Don't Feed The Baby Snakes
"Smash the bottle to smithereens, the devil's in 'im."—Tennyson.
If there remains a long hose nursing bottle in the state of Wisconsin, it should be smashed to bits. The tube of such a bottle is dangerous as a snake. Indeed, more deaths have been caused by filthy nursing bottles than have been by snake bites.

Milwaukee has an ordinance forbidding their sale. Offering an old-time nursing bottle to a baby, in view of our present knowledge of the danger, is morally little short of murder. For those who know, there is no excuse for permitting further use by ignorant mothers.

The danger in the long nursing bottle hose is that it is almost certain to contain germs. The only means of cleansing it is by prolonged boiling. Inasmuch as the only excuse for ever having used such bottles is saving time in feeding infants, it is certain that time will not be given to sterilization.

Babies' bottles should be of the large neck variety that can be thoroughly cleansed. After washing they should be boiled. The rubber nipples should be washed and boiled after each use. They can then be kept in a glass of boric acid solution. Such a solution is made by adding to a given quantity of water as many boric acid crystals as can be dissolved. This is about five teaspoonfuls to a pint of water. Before using, the nipple is to be thoroughly rinsed in boiled water to remove the boric acid solution.

All utensils used in mixing the baby's milk should be boiled after washing. These precautions take a little time. They save much in doctor's bills, sickness, nursing and funeral expense. By the way, all drinking water given to babies is made safe by boiling. It's a splendid form of life insurance against intestinal diseases.

A copy of the Milwaukee nursing bottle ordinance, (and further proof if needed), will be furnished to any mayor, health officer, alderman or private citizen who will address a request to this bureau.

GETTING GOOD ROADS

At the rate of progress Wisconsin is making we will soon occupy an enviable position in this regard. It is true that the good roads we have obtained in the last two years have been in short and widely separated stretches, but they have usually been the bad spots, and we know that often a small mileage on the bad spots make much road generally good.

We are now in position to cover greater mileage, for the reason that after the bad spots are covered the work is not so expensive. Good roads are expensive at best when we look only at the outlay, but they are cheap when we consider the benefits coming from them.

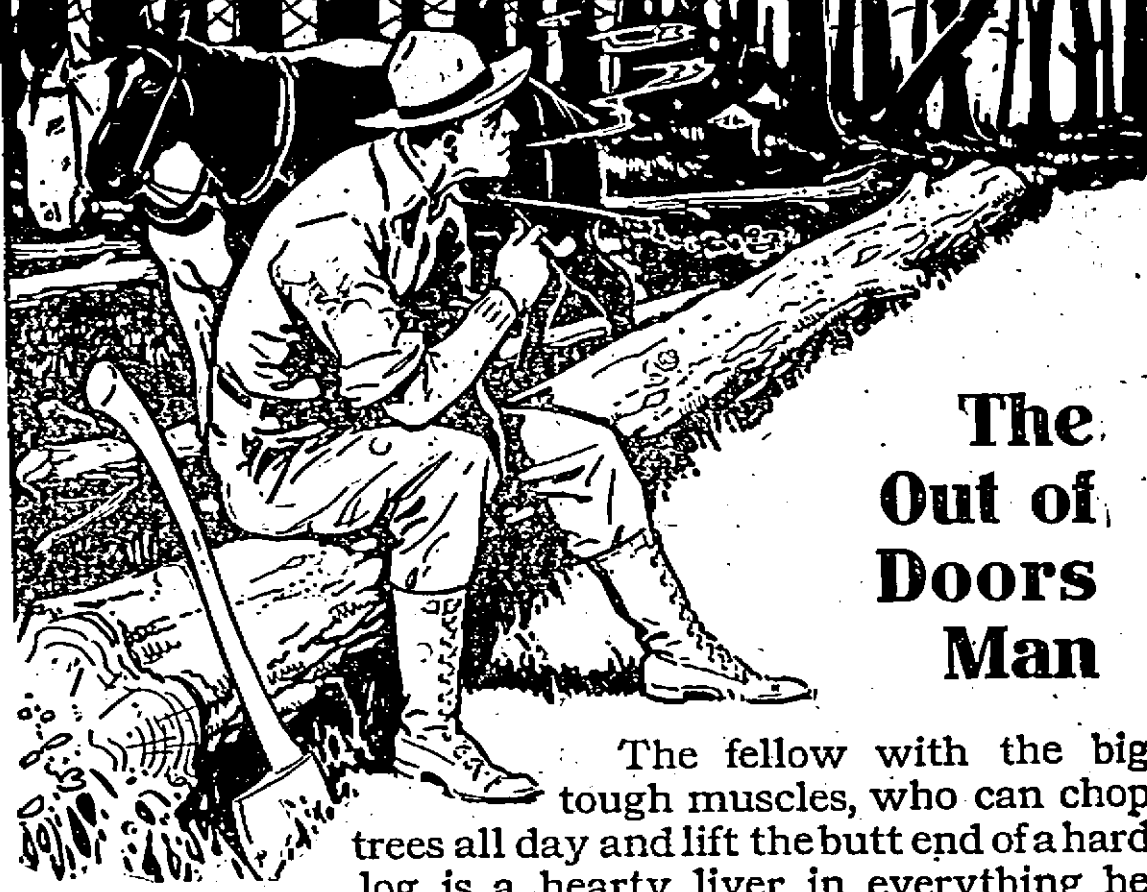

If we had a road on each section line costing $4,800 per mile it would mean $1,200 per section or $7.50 per acre. Such roads would make Wisconsin farms worth at least $25 more per acre. From an investment standpoint such roads would be fully warranted, but of course such expense is not needed and no one at this time would advocate them. In the main good dirt and gravel roads will do handsomely except in rare instances.

Looking again at such roads as would cost $4,800 per mile, the interest on the investment at five per cent would be $60 per year per 100-acre farm. Assuming the maintenance to be anything within reason—and it would be less than our present poor roads—and the total cost would be less than the unnecessary wear and tear on teams and equipment incident to poor roads. Looking at the matter from either standpoint, the question arises: How can we afford longer to have poor roads? And we cannot have good roads until we are willing to pay for them.

because it's got the right stuff in it.

Satisfaction—for a sturdy man—can come from real tobacco only. Insipid mixtures don't appeal to a man with real tobacco hunger.

STANDARD is pure Kentucky leaf, with the "body" for a real smoke, yet rich and pleasing. It takes three to five years to age the tobacco in STANDARD; the process can't be hurried. That's the reason STANDARD is so ripe and mellow.

STANDARD will "make good" the very first time you smoke it. But if you want to prove that STANDARD satisfaction isn't a "flash in the pan" give STANDARD a week's trial. Then you'll know that STANDARD always satisfies, and you'll always keep on using it.

THE GOOD JUDGE OFFERS TO HELP

JUDGE, I TOOK IT AND HE SHATCHED IT BACK. I WAS JUST GOING TO TELL HIM ABOUT THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW.

I FEEL SORRY FOR HIM. I'LL HELP YOU TELL HIM IF HE GIVES US A CHANCE.

SOME folks have tried so many kinds that they can hardly believe that there is a Real Tobacco Chew.

A user of ordinary tobacco needs to get the taste and comfort of the Real Tobacco Chew. Then he knows for sure that he has found the tobacco he's hunted for half his life.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW IS NOW CUT TWO WAYS!! W-B CUT IS LONG SIZED. RIGHT CUT IS SHORT SIZED.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end. The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

(Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste.)

A History Of The Not Very Remarkable Doings of The Do Nothing Club

The 32 of August, a memorable day. Memorable as it was the last outing of the Do Nothing Club. Too bad to cut short the existence of such a useless organization, but such is the fate of all earthly things.

The Do Nothing Club had agreed that this last outing should be a trip to Minocqua. Certainly we should honor the place where our very agreeable malady had its origin. It would not be showing proper respect to not visit Minocqua. On this memorable day we were again early at the wharf. Capt. Charon soon got up steam—he filled his tank with gasoline—not just that way either. He poured the gasoline into the tank that belongs to the boat. At any rate he was at the wharf for us. All were present except Mr. and Mrs. Snodgrass but they were to be taken on board on our way down the lake.

Bluejoint needed some persuading to get him on board. He said he had been compelled to carry his eye in a sling for nearly four weeks by going on the other excursion and unless Peppergrass would promise to be good he would not go. The Scribe promised to be good but Mrs. Dad said they had better throw the Scribe overboard as he would "stop-over" and say something mean. Mrs. Charon said it was in Peppergrass to be mean and it would come out sooner or later and they ought to dispose of him at once.

Peppergrass pleaded that he had always shown much gallantry to the ladies and making a Jonah of him now was not showing much gratitude for the attentions he had always shown to the opposite sex. This argument brought the ladies to take a different point of view and they thought the Scribe not so bad and they could hardly afford to dispose of him. Bluejoint insisted that Peppergrass should either be tossed overboard or put to sleep. But Al Falta thought that if Peppergrass would be seated between Mrs. Charon and Mrs. Snodgrass where he could be heard and not seen they would get along all right. Mrs. Snodgrass assented to this arrangement and said it would be too bad to spoil the water in the lake by throwing the Scribe overboard and no fish would pick him up, for no fish in Tomahawk Lake or in the wide ocean could hold such a concentrated bunch of meanness for any period of time, however short.

The waves continued to roll and so did the boat. Mrs. Al Falta said it was a pleasant sensation as it reminded her of the time she came over from Cork. But Mrs. Bluejoint said the sensation reminded her of having eaten something that did not set well on her stomach. Peppergrass began to make some remarks but Mrs. Charon clapped her hand over his mouth and told him to keep still. She said she had Peppergrass now right where she wanted him. At this Mrs. Peppergrass looked sullen while the other ladies snickered. They thought this remark was to be taken literally.

After rolling about on the waves for an hour we entered the "thoroughfare" where calm water prevailed and the two ladies thought they could safely turn the Scribe loose. Peppergrass told the party that he had a surprise in store for the club when they got back to the wharf. But if he were not treated with due consideration the surprise would not be sprung.

The remainder of the way to Minocqua was a pleasant voyage and we soon landed in that happy village, Minocqua, the beautiful Minocqua, the joyful Minocqua, the home of the disease, Minocquitis. Everybody has it there. Even the dogs are too tired to bark at you.

There is one other thing about Minocqua that is somewhat peculiar and is not wholly due to the disease, and that is the people of that village are never known to drink water, so if a visitor wants a drink of water he must find his way into a livery stable and drink from a horse trough. This we did and can testify to the fact that the water is good and worth drinking. If the people of Minocqua would only try the water a while they would like it after they get used to drinking it. This may be to them much like the case where a lady was selling pills. She approached a gentleman to sell a box of her goods but the gentleman told her he "didn't like pills." "You will like my pills," retorted the lady, "when you get used to taking them."

There are only two ways of enjoying oneself in Minocqua on Sunday. Either by taking a boat ride or going to church. Boating we were having enough of so we concluded we would go to church. None of the members of the club had been to church for many years and had really forgotten church procedure. Capt. Charon said his grandfather had never heard of a church but Bill Dad told him he had better go and take up with modern ways. Snodgrass asked Bill Dad if he knew what people did in church but the president was dumbfounded. Bluejoint undertook to give some information along church lines but made a mess of it. Peppergrass said he had recently looked in a church door in Rhinelander when the meeting was called to order and the first performance was to take up a collection and that quite likely Minocqua would be up to date on this procedure. There would probably be no chance for any sinner to escape the contribution box.

We began a search in our pockets for material for the collection and when pooled we found the crowd could raise four punched coppers, three brass buttons and two fish hooks. Thus armed to meet the hosts of sin we entered and were cordially shown to a seat by the police usher.

In the pew in front of us sat a well known business man. He had a book and pencil in hand and we thought he was making notes of some texts from the good book he could use in his daily affairs. We wondered how it had happened our acquaintance had become so devout, but the Scribe was ill mannered enough to look over his shoulder and found he was figuring interest on the fly-leaf of his wife's hymn book. The program at church passed off smoothly—yells no hitch or break. This, while not exactly new to the club, the members had seen so little of this kind of service that it was novel to them.

When church services were over we repaired to our boat and took a cruise about the lake until time to start for home. On our homeward journey the old Captain put on high speed and the "Rhalephone" went through the water at an unheard of rate. The wind had subsided, Peppergrass had said very few mean things on this trip and Al Falta had been good. Pres. Dad said the day had been well spent. As we neared the Snodgrass wharf we saw the State Forester there with two well known rangers attending.

As we landed the Forester said he had been corresponding with the Scribe and had learned that the Do Nothing Club had become of so little account that each and every member was entitled to the second degree—viz. that of Forest Ranger. He then, with his assistants, proceeded to initiate us into the mysteries of the Ranger degree.

The real object of this degree is to know how to draw a maximum of pay for a minimum of service. There is no secret as to the objects of this degree but the HOW is to forever remain untold. Having taken this low degree the members of this club think they are now next door to Nirvana and will remain at rest and will only be heard from again when they draw their monthly allowances.

Truthfully submitted, SCRIBE. August 32, year X Y Z. Approved by the President.

Madam, Allow Me To Introduce the New Post Toasties

You may have eaten "corn flakes" but you have never tasted any that equal the New Post Toasties.

These new flakes, madam, are crisp and flakey, and have a substance and toastie flavour, a snap and zest that make them distinctive.

Dainty to be sure in their sweetness, the New Post Toasties have a body and firmness, that don't mush down when cream or milk is added; and a true ripe-corn flavor that makes one feel that here, at last, is something really new and good to eat.

New Post Toasties—selected Indian corn, prepared for the table as it was never prepared before.

Your grocer has them now.

EVENTS OF WEEK IN NEARBY TOWNS

Crandon—Morse & Tradewell, the loggers who have been operating for several years near Nashville, are interesting the people in a telephone line from Elcho to take in Bryant, Pearson, Pickrel lake, the Morse & Tradewell camp and approach as near to Crandon as the Joseph Hettlinger farm on Rice Lake. There is a possibility that the line may be extended to Crandon.

Ironwood—The committee representing the Gogebic county creditors of the Fritz Karste estate (Bank of Ironwood) on Tuesday agreed to accept the offer of the German Bank of Sheboygan to pay $93,000 in full settlement of the claims of the estate against the German Bank, Northern Furniture Co. and Wisconsin Land & Timber Co. A gentleman prominently identified with the settlement says that it means a further distribution of 35 per cent to the creditors making 50 per cent in all that the creditors will receive. Fifteen per cent has already been paid.

Washburn—The Beloit works of the Canadian Explosive company at which a number of Washburn men are employed, was the scene of a big explosion last week. Seven persons were killed, two being girls, and ten or more were injured by flying debris. The explosion occurred in the cordite plant. The supposition is that the machinery started a fire which caused the explosion.

Wausau—Work on the buildings to be used by the Co-operative Packing Co., a newly organized corporation composed of local men, has begun and it is expected that everything will be in readiness for carrying on business before snow flies the coming fall. It is expected that the farmers of Marathon county, many of whom are stockholders, will from now on devote more time and money to stock raising.

Lac du Flambeau—The Indian treaty, which prohibits the sale of liquor within 25 miles of the Lac du Flambeau reservation, may not be enforced until next year, if it is then, is the story sent out from Ashland. The saloonkeepers, however, are not going to take any chances and meetings have been held at Woodruff, Minocqua and other places at which it was decided to have representatives take up the matter directly with government officials and insure them that they are ready to assist the officials in securing convictions in case that rule was violated.

Merrill—A complete census of this city taken at the time the school census was taken gives Merrill a population of 10,000 in round figures, an increase of 150 in five years. The school census shows that of this number 3,030 are of school age—between six and twenty years.

Cassian—The town board let a road job to J. Loomis near Harshaw Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Ira Smith and Sybil were Tomahawk visitors Wednesday. Miss Sybil having dental work done. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers and three daughters, of Phillips, were over Sunday guests at T. B. Murrison's. G. M. Anderson had a "bee" Sunday to put the roof on his hay shed. The county highway and bridge committee autoed through Cassian Monday.

Stanley Hamilton and L. Schlecht returned to Minocqua Monday morning after a week's visit at the John Raab home.

Mr. and Mrs. "Lucky" White are the happy parents of a baby girl, Evaline Marie who arrived Thursday June 8. Dr. Cutler of Tomahawk was in attendance.

The Royal Neighbors of Fern Camp will meet with Mrs. Ira Smith at Pioneer Farm Saturday, July 17, at 1 o'clock.

The auditing committee met with Mrs. M. C. Fredericks, Saturday afternoon to audit the Royal Neighbors books.

MARCH TO THE SEA

In Wisconsin today hundreds of battle-scarred veterans of the Civil War are recounting to each other or to grandchildren upon their knees, the oft told story of Sherman's "march to the sea." It was just half a century ago that "Uncle Billy," as the soldiers loved to call their general, set out from Atlanta on this most picturesque exploit of the war. With him went 60,000 picked men, the strongest and bravest in his army, and among them Wisconsin could eleven fine regiments of infantry and three batteries of artillery. It would be an interesting task to trace the record of each one of these gallant Wisconsin organizations, but here that is obviously impossible. Suffice it to say that they were never missing where duty or danger pressed, and on many occasions during and after the war Sherman proudly recalled their services.

The march to Savannah was by no means as difficult or dangerous an undertaking as has been sometimes imagined. On the contrary, it was for the most part a great autumn frolic. There was no Southern force in their path sufficiently large to impede the progress of Sherman's troops, and the land through which they passed was the richest granary of the Confederacy. Sweet potatoes, chickens, turkeys, and honey were common items on the soldier's bill of fare, and bacon and corn meal were to be had in abundance. It was Sherman's plan to consume or destroy all the surplus supplies in Georgia, which had hitherto gone to feed the Confederate armies fighting about Richmond, and his soldiers were not loath to obey such orders.

During the march not more than sixty-three officers and men were killed, and the Wisconsin regiments lost barely half a dozen. An interesting personal account of the march by a Wisconsin major is Hinkley's Service with the Third Wisconsin Infantry, published by the Wisconsin History Commission.
